Dr. Regina Poletunow Boerio, Ph.D

Dr. Boerio is a Professor of Psychology & Dean of Humanities and Social Studies at Franciscan University, Steubenville, Ohio. Her clinical interests include anxiety & depression, women's issues at various stages of life development, families, bereavement and integration of faith into therapy. She has given presentations on multiple topics related to her clinical interests. In 2017 she co-founded GRACE (Gallery of Research, Artistry, and Community Engagement) at Franciscan University, an annual conference for students to showcase their God-given gifts & talents. She is married to Victor, mother of three children and Nonna to five grandchildren.

Andrea Wedner

Andrea Wedner is a "Woman of Valor" (Proverbs 31:10). This is the opening line from the famous poem honoring the righteous woman in Proverbs. It is sung every week on Friday night at the Sabbath meal and read at the end of a woman's life at her funeral. It is the quintessential praise for any woman. On October 27, 2018 during morning worship service at Tree of Life Synagogue, Andrea was seriously wounded in a vicious attack on the Jewish community. Her 97 year old mother, Rose Mallinger was killed along with 10 other worshippers. In the midst of tragedy and grief, she finds support and healing in her family, friends and community.
